

Newly created role with great personal development opportunities.

Our client Dreamlines was founded in 2012 and it is the fastest growing online cruise portal worldwide. Headquartered in Hamburg, it has over 600 employees. In May, Dreamlines acquired 100% of Cruise 1st, a UK headquartered cruise specialist. Dreamlines and Cruise 1st will pool their expertise and capabilities to create unique cruise products and experiences for their customers. Additionally, the companies will streamline their distribution channels, enabling suppliers to target customers more efficiently and with even greater effectiveness. In order to lift synergies, to optimize market opportunities and to migrate people and culture into one firm we are looking for a

Project Manager Global Operations (m/f)

In this role you support the Global Operations Team in strategic projects with focus on Post Merger Integration (PMI) activities and drive the integration of acquired companies into the global Dreamlines group. You define integration timelines, measure and ensure their tracking and execution, steer a diverse range of stakeholders across departments and companies and identify and leverage synergy potentials within the integration activities. More over you are investigating and establishing additional revenue-creating market opportunities.

We are seeking an analytically and strategically thinking person who is capable to drive the PMI process both with empathy as well as with necessary straightness to success. The candidate must have convincing problem-solving skills, ability to navigate competing priorities and stakeholders, and effectively drive issues to closure. He/she must be willing and capable to steer heterogeneous teams across several locations. Candidates should have a solid know-how of project- and change-management tools as well as convincing communicating skills in German and in English.

For a well educated person with a similar background established in a high performance environment, such as consultancy or e-commerce we are offering a newly created role with top-management attention in a well positioned company with a top reputation in its market and start-up atmosphere. You will have the opportunity to manage complex topics and you can set a mark thereby establishing your own reputation with great personal development opportunities.

Our Managing Director Matthias Busold is available for a first exchange of ideas. We certainly assure you our complete discretion as well as the consideration of non-disclosure notices and GDPR. You are invited to send your meaningful application documents with remuneration requirements and availability stating no BC 100072 to matthias.busold@busold-consulting.de
